

BLAKE H. FRY

bfry@mershanlaw.com | 503.595.8034

Practice Areas

- Legal Malpractice Defense
- Appellate Practice
- Employment Counseling and Litigation
- Civil Litigation
- Public Sector Tort and Civil Rights Defense
- School Law

Additional Information

Blake Fry practices mostly in the areas of legal malpractice defense and public-body tort and civil rights defense. He represents attorneys, school and other special districts, cities, and various public entities in litigation. Blake also handles appeals.

Before law school, Blake worked as a technical writer for the environmental division of an engineering firm and for a company that specialized in environmental consulting, testing, and remediation.

Education

- University of Kansas, B.A., English, 2001
- Lewis & Clark Law School, J.D. (with Certificate in Intellectual Property Law), 2009

Admissions

- Oregon
- U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon
- U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit

Presentations & Publications

Why Typefaces Proliferate Without Copyright Protection, 8 Journal on Telecommunications & High Technology Law 425 (2010)

Be Wary of Social Science Expert Testimony in Employment Discrimination Suits, OADC (Oregon Association of Defense Counsel) Newsletter, Winter 2012